

A CHAPTER OF GLORIOUS HISTORY.

SIEGE AND DEFENCE OF LUCKNOW.

JUBILEE OF THE RELIEF.

men mentioned. Dr. Brown estimated was lost.

In later stages Dr. Cookson indicated in view of the manner in which the request from the Citizens' League was treated, he desired to tender his resignation to the delegates from his township (Mr. W. D. Evans) and the township clerk (Mr. W. D. Evans) would be notified that the Citizens' League of Raleigh, which was a reply request from the council that a platform be erected at the Citizens' League, letter stated that the Railway Department did not consider another platform for North Carolina.

Law: Same old tale. More was the from the railway authorities.

(After)

State Party—It takes off my hat to the State Party as an example of laws could be framed. The four "Thou shalt not steal" were plain and could not be understood. My only regret is that Moses had the power of the Workman's Compensation Act."

HISTORY OF THE MUTINY.

THE CASE OF MRS. E. BENMORE.

(BY A SPECIAL REPORT.)

There is no doubt that women realize the social necessity of helping each other in the worst of life. It is a fact that in the case of Mrs. Ethel Benmore, of 5 Market, East Perth, made the following statement to a reporter:—

"Seven years ago I was living in Sydney, here, for a considerable time, I had extraordinary health, getting on exceedingly well, my life being almost as good as that of a young girl, but I had been married for five years, and I had got into the least through anything that had happened it had such an exhausting effect upon me that I generally felt faint right away, and I was long after recovering. I felt too weak to move."

"I was the fainting fits of frequent occurrence, and I was very nervous."

"Yes, they used to come very often—often I felt every time anything unusual happened, I might say—and not only was I very nervous, but I was very nervous."

AUSTRALIA AND THE MUTI

[illegible]

SIR JOHN LAWRENCE'S FORE-

[illegible]

A TERRIBLE SIEGE.

G. WITHERS, J.P.
